on the upper floors of their houses. The high road running to Newport-Pagnell is several feet under water. A railroad cutting near Christ Church, undermined by the floods, collapsed this morning and blocked up the railroad lines. The neighborhood all around is inundated so it is impossible to repair the damage done until the floods shave subsided. The Thames continues to rise and is now five feet above its normal high-water mark. A portion of the royal gardens and the Queen's drive at Windsor are flooded.

In addition to the inundations in the neighborhood of the Thames the river Medway has been so swollen by the heavy rains that it has overflowed its banks and submerged vast tracts of country between Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells, in Kent. At Maidstone the inundation has done much damage to buildings of all descriptions, and the outlook is that there will be considerable damage of a like nature at Tunbridge Wells.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Britain's World Fair Commissioners Report the Result of Their Visit to America.

LONDON, Oct. 23.-There was published to-day the elaborate report of Sir Henry Wood and Mr. James Dredge, the British commissioners who recently returned to this city after visiting Chicago and making inquiries in regard to the steps which Great Britain could and might take in making a suitable exhibit at the Columbian fair in 1893. The report consists of fifviews each step taken by the commissioners in the United States, and is full of valnable statistics as to space, transportation, etc. Among other things the report recommends the erection of a handsome building on the site provided for Great Britain. and says that it is certain that the juries intrusted with the tasks of making the awards will be international in all groups containing foreign exhibits. The report Harrison and Secretary Foster and all of the exposition officials whom the British commissioners met, and who they say granted all the requests made on behalf of Great Britain.

Proposed League of Peace. Paris, Oct. 23.-A dispatch to the Figaro from Copengagen, published to-day, says that during the imperial and royal gathering at Fredensborg, the palace of the Danish royal family, where the Emperor and Empress of Russia have made long visits this autumn, the formation of a "League of Peace" was discussed at length among the titled nobilities there assembled. According to the Figaro's correspondent this league is to include Russia, Servia, Montenegro, | to Nova Scotia, rapidly increasing in in Greece, Sweden, Denmark and France. He adds that it was agreed that the league should be formed, and that its constitution will be publicly announced in January. This League of Peace, should it turn out to be an actual fact, will naturally be regarded as a counter-move to the renewal of the Dreibund agreements openly announced by the Emperor of Germany previous to his recent visit to England.

The Charleston Surprises the Japanese. SAN FRANCISCO. Oct. 23 .- A private letter received in this city from an officer of the United States cruiser Charleston, at Yokohama, says the appearance of that cruiser in Japaness waters created great interest. On the day the vessel was thrown open for inspection over twenty thousand people boarded her, and she was surrounded by sampaus and other boats of all descriptions. The Charleston was also visited by foreign naval officers, and the American officers found it difficult to convince their Japanese friends that the cruiser was not built in England. Admiral Belknap has transferred his flag-ship to the Charleston from the old wooden ship Monocacy, that has heretofore served him for a flag-ship.

IS JESSE STREITT DYING?

The Phenomenal Sleeper Growing Cold and Signs of Death Creeping Over Him.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SEYMOUR, Ind., Oct. 23.—The boy sleeper, Jesse Streitt, whose case has baffled the best medical men that have investigated his queer habit of falling asleep at any and all times, and remaining so for days or weeks without waking, is thought to be nearing his end. Two days ago he fell asleep in school, dropping his head over on his desk and becoming oblivious to his surteen printed pages, to which is attached an | roundings. His mother carried him home appendix of several maps. It carefully re- and he was laid on the bed. His mother fell down the steps with him as she was about to enter the house, sustaining severe injuries herself, but the jar did not disconcert the boy. The physician, who had recently been more or less successful in bringing the lad out of his comatose state, was powerless to wake him. His pulse became feeble and he showed signs of rapidly declining. To-day he grew cold, and he was thought to be dead, but later his breath came again slowly and he showed signs of reviving. His eyes are talf open and glassy, now and then winking feebly. He has always declared on waking that he had been conscious of his entire surroundings while asleep, and when to-day his eyelids partly twitched, his father placed his ear close to the boy's lips, to catch his faintest whisper, but nene lies to-night, with the grief-stricken family standing mutely around his little couch waiting for a change. Whether little Jesse is simply sinking into a a deeper trance than any that has yet held him in its folds, or whether it is really the cold hand of death now creeping over him none can say. The attending physician sbakes his head in complete doubt. It is thought that a few hours, at most, will now determine the question one way or another, still leaving the medical fraternity as much puzzled as ever concerning this queer case.

BATTLE WITH THE BLOODS.

Canadian Indians Raid a Band of Horses and a Bloody Fight Follows with Police.

Assinaboine, Mont., Oct. 23 .- Word has been received here of a battle which took place yesterday between a band of Blood Indians and a force of Canadian mounted police. The fight took place just across the international boundary line, not over fifty miles from this place. The Blood Indians, who are old-time enemies of the police, made a raid on a band of horses belonging to the latter, a few days ago, and ran off with nearly all of them. Ten of the police started in pursuit, and, coming upon them suddenly yesterday, both sides commenced firing, and the fire killed one policeman and two Indians. Several were wounded on both sides. The news was brought in by a Blackfoot who witnessed the fight. The fight was still in progress when he lett. Colonel Bates, commander at Fort Assinaboine, has ordered a troop of cavalry to take a station at the Blackfoot agency as a precautionary measure to restrain the Indians at that agency from attempting to take part in the disturbance.

INDEPENDENCE, Ia., Oct. 23.-To-day was perfect record-breaking weather, clear and warm. The light breeze blowing at noon calmed down about 4 o'clock, leaving it a typical June evening. The only regular races started were the 2:20 trot and 2:20 pace, both left unfinished to-night. Of the three horses that took heats in each class one could not pick the winner. The principal events were the specials. The most noteworthy of them was Robert Rysdick's attempt to lower his mark of 2:14. Yesterday he was sent in 2:14%, but as he was in good form to-day, his owner, A. L. Clark, decided to again make a dash against time. On the first score he cast a shoe and bruised his foot. Nevertheless he took the word. and made a grand trot without a runner in 2:1314. Sphinx, by Electioneer, who has been out of training for three years, was sent against his mark of 2:23, and turned the kite with all his oldtime speed in 2:21. Without a doubt his mark will be below 2:20 before he leaves here. The two-year-old Bell Onward, by St. Bell, went in the Axtell time of 2:23, and while three years ago a crowd went mad over a similar performance, to-day only a little handclap was the acknowledgment of the feat. Governor Merriam's pole team, J. B. S. and Eli, went to beat 2:23, and went the mile in 2:21. To-morrow will be Independence day, and with the free-for-all trot and free-for-all pace on the programme sport will be replete and a large attendance is expected: Summaries:

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 23 .- The feature of the day at Cumberland Park this afternoon was Monbars's attempt to lower the two-year-old record of 2:144, made by Arion in California several days ago. Association Ball Circuit Not Completed. CHICAGO, Oct. 23 .- Although the American Association completed its labors for the present at the Wellington Hotel to-day. the most important question as to what cities will constitute next year's circuit. still remains undecided. A committee consisting of Barnie, of Philadelphia; Schmelz, of Columbus, and Von der Ahe, of St. Louis, was appointed with power to investigate the feasibility of a ten or twelveclub circuit. This committee will make its report in about ten days at the call of Chairman Barnie. Whether the circuit will consist of eight, ten or twelve cities is a matter of much conjecture, but there is little doubt that an eight-club organization is what the Association wants. There is a possibility of the season being begun with ten or twelve clubs, and the weaker ones dropping out as the season progresses. Applications were received from Buffalo, Kansas City and Minneapolis. If a twelve-club circuit is resolved upon, it is said the first two mentioned cities will be admitted. If the Association decides upon ten clubs neither of the two will have much chauce, as it is the intention to place a club in Brooklyn or New York, if possible. With Chicago, Boston and New York, the Association would consider itself fully equipped to cope with the League.

Ten Negroes Who Were to Have Been Hanged

Yesterday Given a New Lease of Life. LAURINS, S. C., Oct. 28 .- Everything was in readiness to hang ten negroes here this morning, but a short time before the hour fixed for execution word was received from Charleston that the Supreme Court had granted the appeal of the condemned men, and would hear their cases at the November term. This decision carried with it a re-The crime for which the ten negroes were to have died to-day was committed on the night of Aug. 5, 1891, just after a church meeting. It occurred at Piedment, in Hunter township, near Mountville, on the Georgia, Carolina & Northern railroad. On the night of the 5th service was held at Piedmont, and Edmond Nance, an old and respected negro, with his wife and four sons, were among the congregation. When the service was over most of the worshipers dispersed. The Nance family had re-ceived an inkling during the progress of the meeting that their lives were in peril. When they started for their home they saw hanging about the portals of the church a number of negroes, among whom were the ten men whose lives were to have been taken to-day. The Nance family at the church consisted of the father, Edmond, his wife and three sons-John, Thornton and Samuel. It seems that John Nance had made indecent proposals to John Atkinson's wife, and the husband was thirsting for vengeance. Finally, most of the Atkinson crowd left, and the old man, followed by his wife and sons, set out for home. Five hundred yards from the church John Nance was held up by one or two men. In another moment the road was full of armed negroes. Shot after shot was fired, and for two minutes the flash of pistols lent brightness to old Edmond's torch. Then the marderers fled, leaving Thornton Nance dead and Sam Nance dangerously shot through the lungs. John Nance escaped unhurt. All of the prisoners were posi-tively identified by several witnesses. The tenor of the proof was that Jim Young fired the fatal shot. The State maintained that Thornton Nance was killed in an effort to thwart a careful plot to murder John, his brother. The prisoners were brought to the court-room on the morning of Sept. 24. Judge Hudson overruled a motion for a new trial. Then they stood up to receive the death sentence. It was a remarkable scene. Judge Hudson, before sentencing them, commented on the habit of the colored people in selecting religious meetings as a time for deeds of blood. Then he pronounced the death sentence, The wives, children and parents were grouped together in the public square as the ten condemned men passed back to jail in charge of deputies. The whole quarter resounded with their cries and weeping. The sentence was regarded as too severe by many citizens, and an effort was made to have the Supreme Court pass on the case. This resulted in the action taken

Charged with Stealing $190,000 from the Louislana National Bank of New Orleans. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.-Eugene F. Garcia, charged with the embezzlement of $190,000 from the Louisiana National Bank, of which he was paying teller, was arrested to-night, upon an affidavit made before United States Commissioner Wright for violating the national bank laws, and was released upon furnishing $25,000 bond. Everything was quiet at the bank to-day. Mr. J. C. Morris, president of the clearingbonse, this morning said in regard to Cashier Eugene F. Garcia's defalcation: "Eugene F. Garcia, paying teller of the Louisana National Bank, is a defaulter in the sum of $190,000. It was first discovered on the 8th of October. The full extent of the defalcation was only demonstrated on the 17th. Some packages had been paid out purporting to contain $5,000 and $10,000, while they only contained $500 and $1,200. Complaint to this effect was made to the Louisiana National Bank by the shortage of the packages. Mr. Garcia cenfessed that capital of $500,000 and a surplus of $150,000 remains intact."

"Do you think that any deposits will be withdrawn from the bank on account of this defalcation?" the reporter asked. "I do not. If anything of that kind should occur. I am authorized, as president of the clearing-house, to state that every dollar required will be furnished by the clearinghouse banks. The present condition of the bank is an exceedingly strong one, and it is able to meet any requirements for its deposits, as will be seen by the statement published by the bank." Ex-Officials of Denver Indicted.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 23 .- To-day the grand jury brought in three bills of indictments against ex-City Treasurer William Bliss, ex-Deputy Treasurer James Hadley, ex-Deputy Auditor George R. Raymond, charging them with embezzlement, malfeasance in office and forgery. The accused were arrested to-night and lodged in jail, where they will remain until the amount of bond required is fixed by the court. These indictments are the result of the work of the investigating committee which reported some time ago that they had discovered gross irregularities in the books of the city treasurer and auditor. The amount alleged to have been stolen is $45,000.

Two Important Steps by the W. C. T. A. CHICAGO, Oct. 23 .- The Illinois Non-par tisan Woman's Christian Temperance Alliance to-day took two important steps. The first was the most interesting one of the convention, and the action taken opens up a field for temperance work which is entirely different from what has ever been attempted before. The convention appointed a committee to consider and gather information of the bi-chloride of gold cures for inebriety, the committee report to form the basis for the future work of the alliance. The other action was to expunge from the constitution the sentence, "Nor shall any incumbent during her term of office engage in campaign work for any po litical party," on the ground that the clause was a hindrance to the personal liberty of the officers.

MRS. HOPKINS'S VAST INTERESTS.

General Hubbard Describes the Property of the Woman Who Married Mr. Searles.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 23 .- Mr. Searles concluded his testimony in the Hopkins-Searles will case, he having been on the stand for five days and over under a most searching examination into all his affairs. Mr. Burley then called for the check books showing any checks to either Mr. Stillman or Mr. Hubbard. This request the court was not disposed to grant. The counsel for the will then tendered the original copies of letters which had been read for comparison. and the contestants rested their case for Timothy Hopkins. Judge Harmon asked if any one else wished to be heard in opposition to the instrument, and there was no response. Mr. Lincoln then called Gen. Thomas E. Hubbard, of New York, who testified that he had known Mr. Searles for some time prior to 1882, but had personally done no business for him. General Hub-bard gave in a general way Mrs. Searles's property as consisting of some sixty different kinds of stocks and bonds. She was one of four who controlled five thousand miles of railroads and one hundred steamers. These companies were bonded for about $250,000,000. There were also roads in Guatemala, Vancouver, Mexico and Texas, and her interest in the Pacific Improvement Company (a construction company), and also the Oriental and Occidental Steamship Company. The Central Pacific is a leased line of the Southern Pacific, and the government aid to this line renders the position peculiar, and requires the attention of the owners. The property is such that any one who attempts to attend to either of the properties requires all of his time. He did not wish to be understood that the properties were in bad condition, but whether they were to be worth 50 or 150 per cent. of this value in few years depended on whether they had received proper attention from their owners. Witness had a large and prosperous practice, and when Mr. Stillman came to him and said that Mr. Searles wanted him to take the management of the property, and if he would go in with him, he told him it was a serious matter, as it would, in a short time at least, involve the abandonment of the practice of law. Finally he consented to take it up with him. The copartnership was suggested by Mr. Stillman, who had found, as attorneys, they had met with rebuffs in getting information necessary to cope with the questions before them, but as principals, as well as attorneys, they could insist on their rights to it. Witness knew sional income, and finally, after much discussion, the copartnership as drawn was made as the most just and reasonable arrangement. At the afternoon session General Hubbard testified that the management of the estate had taken nearly all his time for a year and a half past, and that it had taken fully as much of Mr. Stillman's time also. In 1888 he had called the attention of Mrs. Searles to the fact that she was drawing very little money as compared with the amount drawn by Mr. Searles. She said that Mr. Searles paid all her bills and she wanted him to do so. She did not wish to have anything to do with business. Witness was asked if any changes had been made in the record of the title of the copartnership just previous to the death of Mrs. Searles. His reply was yes—in South-ern Pacific company and Pacific Improve-ment Company—both had been transferred to the partnership, but had remained on record as in the name of Mrs. Searles.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., Oct. 23,-The influx of Huns and negroes from the South and East continues steadily and the miners are thoroughly alarmed over the prospects. All along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad they have been brought to the mines except between Finleyville and the Snowden mines; sometimes merely a handful, and again in large numbers. In the first pool mines the greater number of them have been taken. At Wallick there are from sixty to a hundred of them, while at Cook & Son's mines, at Cook station, on the Chartiers division of the Panhandle, there are a number of negroes. A riot is feared when they are placed in the pits.

Mr. Warner Is Not Seeking Office. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23 .- William Warner returned this morning from a trip to Washington, and the usual rumors are affoat that he had been offered the Pension Bureau or the rosition of Judge Advocategeneral. Mr. Warner registered an emphatic denial to all the rumors. He said his visit to Washington had no political significance whatever, and his mission was a business one. connected with the Department of the Interior. He further said that he had not been called to Washington by President Harrison, had not seen the President during his visit, had not been offered any office and was not seeking an Vehicle Exhibit at the World's Fair. CHICAGO, Oct. 23.-Chief W. A. Smith, of the transportation department of the world's fair, is to have an important and influential committee of carriage-makers to assist him in preparing exhibits. The Carriage-builders' National Association has named C. F. Kimball, of Chicago; Clem Studebaker, of South Bend; W. H. Lane, of Kalamazoo; C. M. Britton, of New York; F. H. Hooker, of New Haven; Grant Burrows, of Cincinnati, and H. C. McLean, of Wilmington, Del., as members of this committee. The intention is to make the vehicle exhibit the finest and most comprehensive of the kind in the world.

MR. NEIDRINGHAUS'S WORKMEN.

If the Contract Labor Law Has Been Violated the District Attorney Will Prosecute.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.-It was rumored today that the importation of Welsh tinplate workmen by the St. Louis Stamping Company, of which ex-Congressman Neidringhaus is president, would be brought before the grand jury. United States District Attorney George D. Reinolds was interviewed to-night: He said: "My attention has been called to the alleged violation of the contract labor law, by a delegation from Ivory Lodge, Amalgamated Iron and Steel-workers, who asked if anything could be done. They told me that a number of workmen had been brought over on contract, and asked me if I was willing to present the matter to the grand jury. I said I was if they would furnish witnesses and facts. A day or two afterwards the secretary of the lodge and another gentleman called and asked me to wait a few days until secured more data upon which to proceed. expected them to-night, but I understand the secretary was shot to-day, and I have not heard from them. I concluded to lay the matter over until next week and ascertain if a case can be made. My duty is to enforce the law. If there has been violation, the violator must abide by the consequences." No confirmation of the shooting of the secretary could be obtained at a late hour to-night.

LINCOLN'S RELIGION. His Belief, or Want of Belief, Causing Much Speculation.

Detroit Tribune. The statement positively made, which will be as positively denied, that Abraham incon was a spiritualist, indicates that Mr. Lincoln's religious belief, or want of any religious belief, is likely to be a matter of discussion while his name is remembered. A few years ago it was stated on the alleged authority of the late Bishop Lefebvre, of Detroit, that Mr. Lincoln was in early life a member of the Roman Catholie Church. The story had a certain color

In the early settlement of Hancock county, Illinois, there was a small Catholic church composed entirely of Kentucky people, in part descendants of Maryland Catholics, who worshiped in a humble edifice near the village of Fountain Green. Of this congregation several families of Lincolns, relatives of the President, formed part. The ancient faith seems to have been introduced into the Lincoln family through marriage with Maryland Catholic families, among others the Mudds. Of this little lock the afterwards distinguished Bishop Lefebvre was at one time the parish priest, and something he said of these Lincolnsand there was an Abraham Lincoln among them-was understood to refer to their great kinsman. The little Catholic Church was years ago torn down and removed to the railroad, and few of the old-time worshipers now live in the neighborhood. Singularly, although Mr. John Hay lived from childhood to early manhood in Hancock county, no mention is made in the Hay and Nicolay life of Lincoln of these Hancock county kinspeople of his, though they were well-known people in the early history of the county, and distinguished by many physical and other points of resemblance to the greatest of the Lincolns.

As for Abraham Lincoln, no church, no sect, no creed, will ever establish a claim to him. No authority will ever define or set the metes and bounds of his faith. However led, he approached the altar of his belief in early life when he chose as his own the sentiment of the sad solemn poem, "Oh, why should spirit of mortal be proud?" that he found the confession the final insufficiency of earthly things. He learned, too-he seems to have always known-that religion is not a thing of outward forms or the acceptance of prescribed symbols and formulas, but has its seat in the heart, with which man believeth. No man ever kept his own heart more tender and true, more open to every gentle influence than Abraham Lincoln; hence his religion was that love which has formed the inspiration and theme of every true

AN OBJECT LESSON IN THE TARIFF. "Sheer Folly to Hide the Fact" of the Success of the Present Law. New York Mail and Express.

Evidence of the beneficial effects of the Republican tariff policy is constantly accumulating to overwhelm the free-trade and Cobden Club agents. Our own channels of trade, widening daily and running into new fields, affords ample testimony, and the loss of nearly 50 per cent. of American trade by English manufacturers in certain lines indisputably points to the steady upbuilding of our home industries. The Sheffield Telegraph, lamenting the loss of its cutlery trade through the new tariff law, says in a recent issue: "Its promoters meant it (the new tariff law) to push forward the policy of Amercans for America. One method of realizing it was to keep all the work within their own dominions. The country was to be made self-supplying. What could be produced at home was not to be bought abroad. That was the crux of the Mckinley scheme, and it is working out the ideas of its designers with the precision and effectiveness of a machine. Manufacturers are naturally reluctant to give exact and candid information as to how they are affected in any particular market, but when a single industry falls off by nearly 50 per cent. it is sheer folly to hope to hide the "We have in our mind at this moment the case of a gentleman who makes goods here for sale in the United States-his sole market. He has never sought English business, but determined to produce reliable wares for sale in his own country. He has an extensive establishment in Sheffield. where, with Sheffield men and Sheffield material, he produces the goods he supplies in the States. His experience, we admit, is exceptional, but it illustrates most forcibly the throttling effect of the McKinley In a few days he is leaving Sheffield because he finds it impossible under the new duties to continue making the bulk of the articles he sends to his American customers. He will go on producing the higher priced fancy specialties which are not, as yet, successfully turned out across the water, but what will be the outcome! No doubt he will establish a cutlery manufactory in the States. There will be done the work which has formerly found wages for Sneffield artisans, and in the course of time the costlier productions will unquestionably be added to the business."

Sending Money by Express.

John Hoey invented by accident the system of sending money by express. While a clerk in the Adams Express Company's employment, in this city, he was asked by a woman to send some money to her son, a soldier at Washington, and bound for the front. Hoey thought the matter over, and without consulting his superiors sent the package of money by the express. The money reached its destination, but Hoey was reprimanded for his bold experiment. Nevertheless, from that one act grew an extremely profitable branch of the express business. It was just about the same time that a gentleman then living in Chicago, but now a resident of New York. with difficulty induced the Western Union Telegraph Company to send a telegraphic money order. It was sent from Chicago to New Orleans, with much misgiving on the part of the telegraph officers and strictly at the sender's risk.

the field of Valley Forge, has expressed in felicitous words a patriotic sentiment that is destined to live. "I feel assured," she says, "that the women who are so educating themselves with the history of their own country are the best fitted to 'rock the cradles' of our future rulers.'

One of the very brightest chapters in the glorious story of the revolution is that in which the deeds of the patriotic women of 1776 are told. Every one of the old thirteen States had scores of heromes whose services to the generals in the field were of incalculable value. It is a matter for national congratulation that their descendants in these modern days, which are sometimes characterized as degenerate, should impose on themselves the task of preserving the monuments that are left to us of the heroic struggle for independence. They deserve the most generous support that can be given, and, as Mrs. Harrison says, their hands are, indeed, the best fitted to rock the cradles of the race of statesmen on whom will devolve the duty of perpetuating

American institutions.

Shouldn't Be Ashamed of Its Politics. Steuben News. The Indianapolis News, though by all odds the most unscrupulous Democratic organ in the State, is again trying to convince its readers that it is "independent" in polities. If the news is ashamed of its Democracy it ought to cease to be Democratic. If it is not ashamed of it, then why attempt to hide it behind the pretense of independence? An out-and-out Democrat who honestly believes in the principles of his party and who is not ashamed of his Democracy is entitled to the respect of his political opponents, but what can be said of the man or organ that labors in season and out of season to promote the interests of the Democratic party, and all the time wears the cloak of political independence?

Milwaukee Sentinel. The Boston doctor is gloriously rightthis is the great baby year. To keep up with Cleveland and Flower, Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, has a new daughter. But this is getting to be such a common thing among Democratic politicians that it is losing its power to boom. Hereafter we shall charge 50 cents for, every announcement of birth in the family of a Democratic candidate. We are not to be worked for any further free advertising.

Office-Holding Is Not Discreditable,

St. Louis Globe-Democrat. We cannot afford to accept the theory that a man does himself more honor by declining office than by accepting it. That is not in accordance with the spirit of our political philosophy or the example of our wisest and best citizens. The professional office-seeker may be disparaged and dis-couraged with perfect propriety, but that is a different thing from teaching that office-holding is discreditable, and that a man should shun it as he would any ordidinary source of contamination.
